Data Leakage Report

Identity Finder, LLC is a global leader in personally identifiable information (PII) discovery and sensitive data security. Identity Finder DLP reduces the risk of data leakage exposure by locating sensitive information in files, emails, databases, and websites. When configured to do so, Identity Finder DLP can automatically search data stored on desktops and servers while identifying Social Security Numbers, PCI data, PHI, Dates of Birth, Passwords, Bank Accounts, and other personal information.

As a courtesy, we have provided this detailed analysis of the apparent data dump of sensitive personal information posted by the hacker group AntiSec on August 6, 2011. The information in this report presented "AS-IS," without any warranty as to its accuracy or fitness for a particular purpose. Nothing in this report shall be construed as legal advice. Though we make commercially reasonable efforts to ensure this information is accurate, Identity Finder encourages you to investigate and confirm the information in this Report before acting upon it.

Summary of this Report

Our analysis produced the following statistics, which we encourage you to verify before acting upon them. The image below shows a summary of the search results in Identity Finder DLP 5.0. Please see the explanation below for clarification and detail.

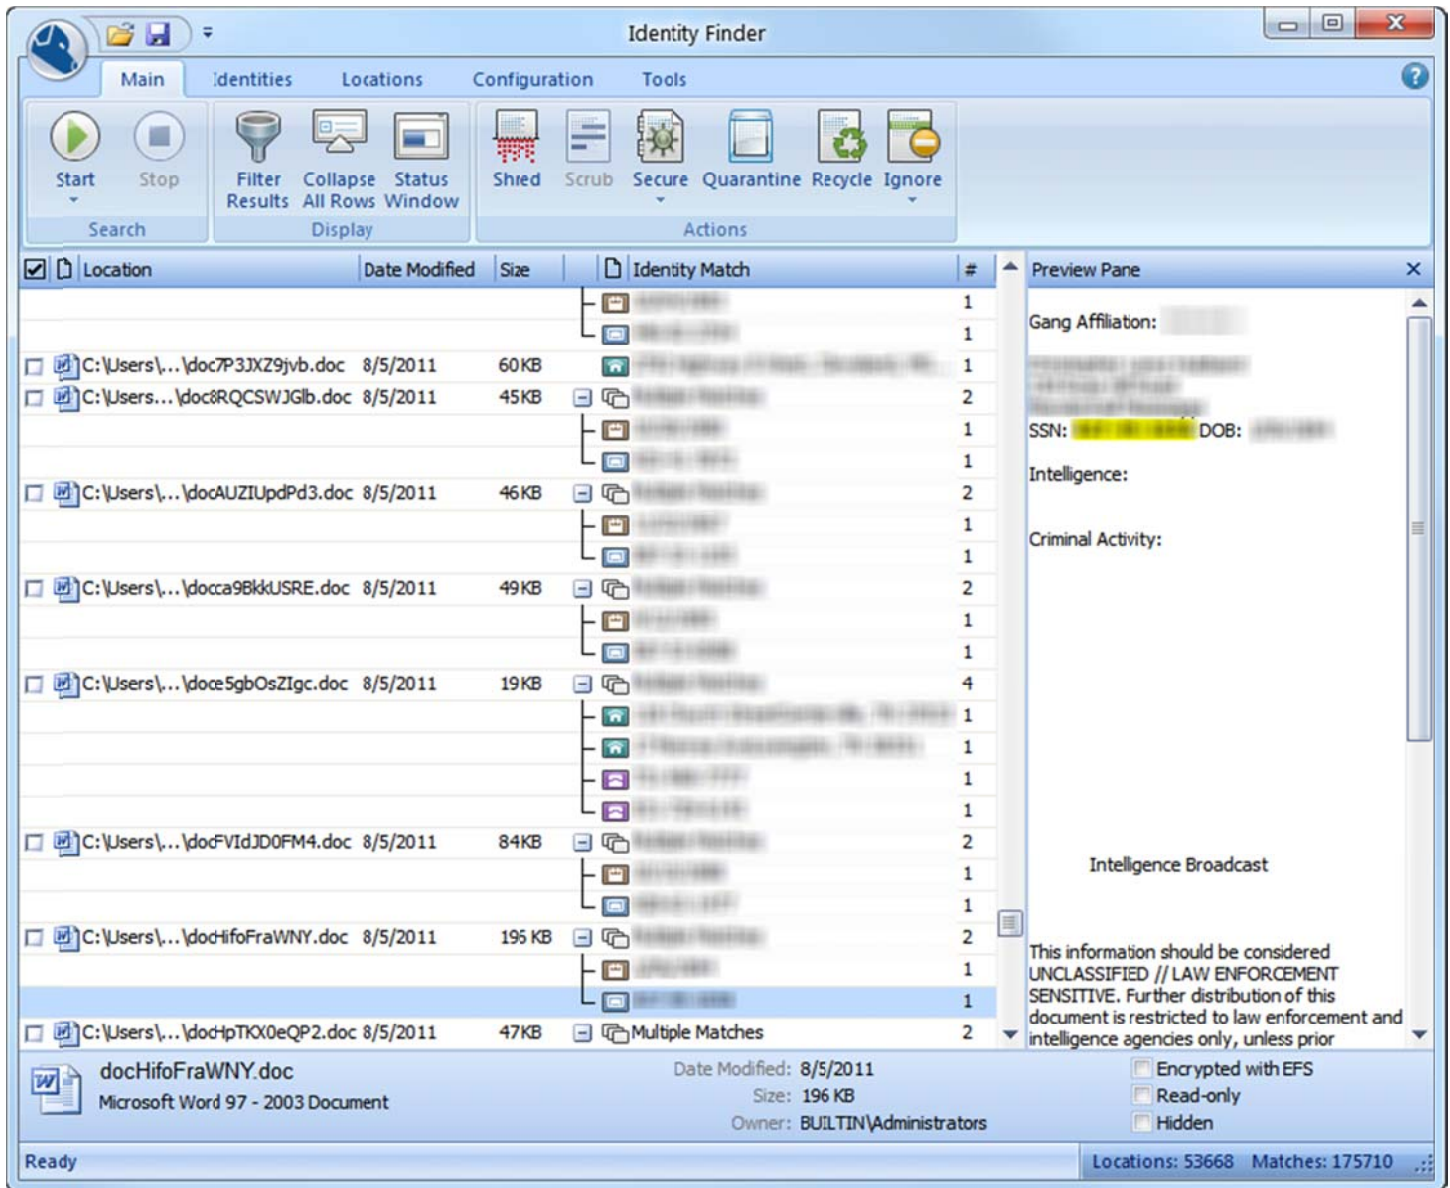

Explanation and Clarification of Statistics:
